

The Development Studies Seminar, Department of Sociology in cooperation with
SASNET – Swedish South Asian Studies Network,
Lund University

Guest lecture with Prof. K. C. Suri, Nagarjuna University, Andhra Pradesh, India

The Emergence of coalitional politics in South Asia, with special reference to India

Time: Wednesday 6 December, 14.15 – 16

Venue: Department of Sociology, Paradisgatan 5, Conference room 335, 2nd floor, Lund.

Prof. K.C. Suri is a specialist on Indian and South Asian politics and also on agrarian economic and political issues. Among many publications he edited and introduced the issue on Farmers' suicides in Economic and Political Weekly, No. 15, 22-29 April this year. In his lecture he will also deal with nationalism and regionalism as well as elite and mass attitudes towards democracy in India. Before coming to Lund, Prof. Suri is participating in a conference on leadership in South Asia at the University of Oslo.

After the seminar there will be a snacks and drinks in the lunchroom.

All are welcome!

Staffan Lindberg & Lars Eklund, SASNET
Göran Djurfeldt & Olle Frödin, Dept. of Sociology